Hello,

I think you should make Microsoft pay for what they have done to the computing market. The current settlement is flawed in many ways and you should not let them off the hook that easy. Another thing you should consider is making Mr. Gates take a hike. He will control anything about Microsoft in whatever form it may be in after this trial.

In closing, I hate Microsoft because of the damage they have done. They (as in everyone who has been involved with Microsoft's foul play) should not be let go to do this again (please refer to the case where the US jailed a software developer).

Sincerely,
Alex Younts
